Challenge Testing of Products (Preservative Efficacy Test)

Angus Malcolm Microbiological Consultancy Services

Aromantic has negotiated with Angus Malcolm at Microbiological Consultancy Services to give Aromantic customers a special price if you choose to make a preservative efficacy test.

Compared to other companies on the market, they offer very good value for money. I'd like to emphasise that challenge-testing your products is not a legal requirement within European legislation but something to do for quality control and your own peace of mind.

The service they offer is called a Preservative Efficacy Test (the same as challenge test really) and the cost to Aromantic customers for each product is £110+VAT. The standard cost for non-Aromantic customers is £130+VAT for each product.

When requesting 10 or more tests at one time, the cost to Aromantic customers for each product will be £99+VAT.

Their website is <http://www.mcs.uk.net> and you simply fill in a form with no recipe details revealed and then send your products along to them. The challenge/efficacy test takes one month to complete.
